The Edwards County FFA program one of just 10 chapters nationally up for an award acknowledging their efforts to strengthen agriculture in their local community.

The chapter was selected as a finalist in the Strengthening Agriculture category by the FFA National Chapter for its efforts to educate the public about the dairy industry during National Milk Day this past January. The selection marks the first time in the program's history that it has been in the running for the distinction.

The selection was by no means anticipated by the members of the Edwards County FFA.

"They were very surprised," said Michelle Wiseman, Adviser of the Edwards County chapter, on her students' reaction to their chapter's selection as a National Finalist. "They are also very proud that their hard work earned this distinction."

Niemerg speaks at EC Republicans meeting

By T.J. HUG Of The Navigator

Adam Niemerg, Republican candidate for State Representative of Illinois' 109th District, served as guest speaker for the Edwards County Republicans Monday night.

Niemerg, who grew up in Teutopolis, addressed 18 Republicans in the shelter house of the Albion City Park during the party's monthly meeting. The candidate focused most of his words on relating to those ly active at the dining room table," he said. "So I just kind of grew up that way, very conservative."

Niemerg stated that he was wondering "What he could do to help" conservative efforts within the state when he first heard that current 109th District State Representative Darren Bailey would be running for the State Senate rather than seeking to retain his seat in the Nov. 3, 2020 election.

"Backtrack a couple of months, when those horrible abortion bills passed through the legislature, I was completely and totally appalled. "That would have to be the last straw, the catalyst that made me say, 'Okay, I've really got to think about what I can do and how I can really get things going in this state."

"I can stand here and talk about the Fair Tax," said Niemerg. "I can stand here and talk about being pro-life, our conservative ideology and what makes us Republican and who we are.

"We all share that same vision."

For Niemerg, that vision started at a young age, eating meals with his family.

Trick-or-Treating in Grayville now slated on Halloween night

By AMY WINTER

Of The Navigator

At the Grayville City Council meeting held on Monday, Mayor Travis Thompson announced it had been brought to his attention that residents of Grayville were curious as to why Trick-or-Treating for this year was set for Friday, Oct. 30 instead of Saturday, Oct. 31, Halloween night.

Finance Commissioner David Jordan mentioned that at the last meeting, he suggested Friday thinking perhaps residents would like the entire weekend for other activities, but there was no real reason why it couldn't be adjusted to Oct. 31.

The council unanimously voted to move Trick-or-Treating to Saturday, Oct. 31 at the same time as previously approved, from 5-8 p.m.

Both the Mayor and City Attorney Jay Walden maintained that if any resident was not comfortable with this decision, they did not have to participate; they could choose to leave their lights off, or place a sign stating their intentions not pass out candy.

All of these decisions, of course, hinge on the current environment within the state of Illinois. If Governor J. B. Prtizker or the Illinois Department of Public Health, for example, canceled Halloween state-wide or restricted certain areas, the City would have to comply and the Trick-or-Treating schedule would thus have to be withdrawn.

The council unanimously approved to extend and renew Mayor Thompson's emergency powers originally granted to him during a special meeting on Aug. 27, when they adopted an ordinance establishing temporary executive powers to Mayor Travis Thompson pursuant to Illinois State Statute (65 ILCS 5/11-1-6 and 20 ILCS 3305/11) for the City of Grayville, in both White and Edwards Counties, which shall expire not later than the adjournment of the first regular meeting after the state of emergency has been declared. The ordinance originally went into effect Aug. 27, and the City Council approved to extend it on both Sept. 14 and Sept. 28. The next regularly scheduled meeting is scheduled for Oct. 12 at 7 p.m.

Arlynn Stroman from Botsch & Associates gave a presentation to the council of City's recent audit, covering May 2019 through April 2020. After the presentation and explanations, Jordan asked her, "even though there's no findings, any recommendations coming from your office on what we need to do?"

Stroman replied, "...my biggest concern, is the fact that the Sewer Department runs in overdraft situation all the time. I don't like it." While most present laughed at this last comment, including Jordan, he affirmed that the City of Grayville did not like it, either.

"I would love to just see a transfer of some money over there, just to show that in a positive light," Stroman continued. Jordan assured her that changed were made to the current budget, "...which of course is not reflected in tonight's presentation," but
